

sienna tenn's zines!

'Zines' are a short form of magazines, self-published by someone to spread message. They are often created with just an A4 piece of paper and a story. Here are tenn steps to having your own copy of my zine exploring the story of 'it's always you':

Chapter 1: all of the words I'd wish I'd seen across your face, babe.

1. Print pages 2 and 3 double-sided.

2. Fold in half so page 3 is facing you.

3. Then fold in half.

4. Fold in half again!

5. Unfold and check there are creases for 8 pages.

6. Fold in half and cut down the middle.

7. Unfold, then fold in half, with page 3 facing outward.

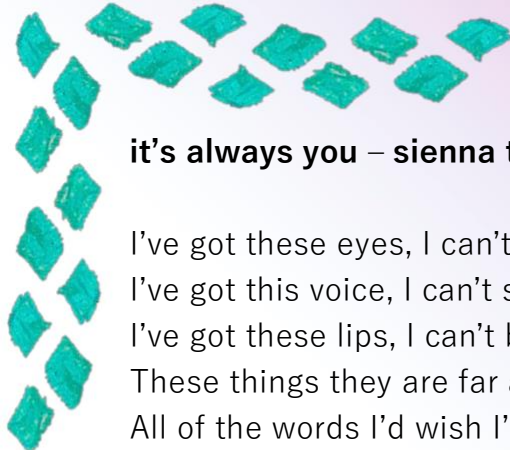

8. Push either side together and check the page numbers are in order.

9. Enjoy!!!

10. Share your creations online and tag @siennatenn !

it's always you – sienna tenn

I've got these eyes, I can't see
I've got this voice, I can't speak
I've got these lips, I can't breathe
These things they are far and between
All of the words I'd wish I'd seen
Across your face, babe

Hold on tight and I know that it'll all just be right
Just thinking bout you and I
How we had the world despite

But this painting will not change
All the faces, all blurred, stained
And I wish we were okay
To hold you just one time again

I've got these eyes, I can't see
I've got this voice, I can't speak
I've got these lips, I can't breathe
These things they are far and between
All of the words I'd wish I'd seen
Across your face, babe

These things they are far and between
All of the words I'd wish I'd seen
Across your face, babe

Wish we could leave and you would stay
I've thought of all the things I'd say
Don't let our ending miss it
I don't wanna miss you

No words left, you can't treat my brain
I'd want us time and time again
Blue as the day I met you
If were okay, it's always you

I love you
